MURDERS BARED BY WOMAN

Cleveland Mother Reveals Double Tragedy In Hunt for Her Children—Bodies, Hidden In Creek for Month, Found—Slain In Moonshine Row

CLEVELAND.—(By Associated Press.)—A double murder that grew out of a quarrel over profits on "moonshine" whiskey, the bodies of the two dead men being found after being hidden in a creek bed near Parma Heights for a month, came to light Friday.

A woman, the wife of one of a group of five men who lived on a farm near Parma Heights, and whose business was said to be making of illicit whiskey, revealed the double tragedy, making a sworn statement to Marshal George Heffner, of the village.

Her husband, Steven Nedeljkod, disappeared immediately after the two men were killed and he took with him his two little children, according to the woman's statement. In a frantic hope to recover the children, the wife and another woman covered the slaying in telling of her husband's disappearance.

The dead men were George Iodorus, 26, and Tony Schloss, 32. The victims were slain with a shotgun. Their bodies were hauled across the farm where they all lived and where their whiskey still was located, and dumped into the waters of a creek nearby.

Two men who occupied the farm with Mrs. Nedeljkod, after her husband's disappearance, were taken into custody as witnesses Friday. A third man is being sought.

Marshal Heffner was said to be in Akron Friday on information that Nedeljkod was there.

If its application for abolition of free transfers and exchange tickets is held up longer, the statement said, and the voluntary response of the public is not such as to provide the necessary revenue, the company "to avoid bankruptcy will be forced to file a new tariff for an eight or ten cent fare."

NEW EVIDENCE IN SOX PLOT FOUND

Criminal Action Against R-I Players Now Seen

WOMEN MAY BE SUMMONED

Wives of Diamond Stars Likely to be Quizzed

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—New evidence which may warrant criminal prosecution of the baseball players involved in the "fixing" of the 1919 world's series was expected by the grand jury Friday when State's Attorney Michael Hyman arrives from New York. August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds, was expected to testify Friday and Alfred S. Austin, attorney for the White Sox, announced that he believed more players were ready to tell what they knew.

The grand jury which has been hearing the case will complete its regular session Friday, but Chief Judge McDonald, who ordered the investigation, and who will be required to appoint a grand jury devoting its entire time to the baseball situation. Judge McDonald said indictments and prosecutions could be returned on the evidence already submitted, but that no detail will be overlooked in the investigation.

NEW EVIDENCE SECRET

The nature of the new evidence which Hyman said he obtained in New York is not known. He would only say he obtained the information from two men who are neither baseball men nor gamblers, and who have not yet been mentioned in the inquiry. He also asserted that he had no evidence to show that the 1920 world's series had been "fixed."

Other witnesses who are to be called before the grand jury include Dr. Raymond B. Prattman, who has done dental work for the White Sox players, and Clyde Elliot, motion picture man, who accompanied "Kid" Gleason to the city to make an investigation last fall at President Taft's request. "Dick" Weaver, Sox third baseman, and Fred McMillin, utility man for the club, among those suspended by Comiskey are said to be ready to testify.

Witnesses of the "fixing" may also be a key to tell what has been done of the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 series, it was reported. Mrs. Chicago Williams stated she had never let on a baseball game, or knew anything of the "fixing."

"BET WITH RUBIN MONEY"

Reports said to emanate from members of the White Sox, that credit "flops" Polish with having placed $5,000, accepted as a bribe from the gamblers, as a bet at 2 to 1, on Cincinnati in the second game of the series, thus accumulating $15,000.

It is claimed he asked his wife to Milwaukee to come to Chicago for the first game here, and that when she met him his greeting was to toss the $15,000 on the table. There are various accounts as to what followed. The players said the couple had a disagreement over the affair, but later made it up and Mrs. Felsch deposited the money in a savings bank here. The money was said to have been withdrawn last Monday. Mrs. Felsch is expected to be asked by the grand jury what she knows of the transaction.

GANDIL DENIES CHARGE

"Chick" Gandil, former White Sox first baseman, who was named by Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson, Williams and others as the man who headed the conspiracy among the players, said Thursday in Lufkin, Texas, where he is in a hospital following an operation for appendicitis, that the stories concerning him were untrue. "I never threw a game in my life," he said.

"If 'Lefty' Williams said I was the 'go-between' I shall give him a little trouble on my own hook, and make him prove his charge," Gandil said. "As soon as I can leave the hospital, I am going straight to Chicago and face those fellows and make them admit they lied. It can't be necessary to send an officer for me."

"Buck" Herzog, second baseman of the Chicago Cubs was recovering today from three wounds inflicted by a man with a knife yesterday as he was leaving the ball park at Joliet where the Cubs played an exhibition game. Herzog was in an automobile and a man shouted "There goes the crooked Chicago ball player." The man jumped upon the running board of the car and slashed Herzog on the right hand and his left arm and leg. The wounds are not serious.

The company maintains that the recent revised fare schedule providing a workmen's ticket during the early forenoon and late afternoon hours of ten tickets for fifty cents prevents it from granting the increase. The company previously had been getting a seven cent fare. The new scale permits the company to charge eight cents during the day with the workmen's tickets in the morning and afternoon. The company says that the new rate will cause it to lose money and that it will make no attempt to move the cars with the men striking.

Cleveland Mother Reveals Double Tragedy In Hunt for Her Children—Bodies, Hidden In Creek for Month, Found—Slain In Moonshine Row

CLEVELAND.—(By Associated Press.)—A double murder that grew out of a quarrel over profits on "moonshine" whiskey, the bodies of the two dead men being found after being hidden in a creek bed near Parma Heights for a month, came to light Friday.

A woman, the wife of one of a group of five men who lived on a farm near Parma Heights, and whose business was said to be making of illicit whiskey, revealed the double tragedy, making a sworn statement to Marshal George Heffner, of the village.

Her husband, Steven Nedeljkod, disappeared immediately after the two men were killed and he took with him his two little children, according to the woman's statement. In a frantic hope to recover the children, the wife and another uncovered the slaying in telling of her husband's disappearance.

The dead men were George Iodoss, 26, and Tony Schross, 32. The victims were slain with a shotgun. Their bodies were hauled across the farm where they all lived and where their whiskey still was located, and dumped into the water of a creek nearby.

Two men who occupied the farm with Mrs. Nedeljkod, after her husband's disappearance, were taken into custody as witnesses Friday. A third man is being sought.

Marshal Heffner was said to be in Akron Friday on information that Nedeljkod was there.

CAR CO. PLEADS TO PUBLIC'S HEART

Fare Boost Defeated. Philadelphia Concern Appeals to People

PHILADELPHIA.—(By Associated Press.)—An appeal to the generosity of the public was made Friday by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company in an effort to increase its revenue.

Signs reading, "Will you pay five cents now for each ride, or will you wait until the fare is raised to ten cents?" were placed on the front of each car while within the cars, signs stating that the P. R. T. asks everybody to be good now paying five cents, no transfers, no exchanges.

The company, whose application for a discontinuance of free transfers and three cent exchange tickets has been held up by the state public service commission, in a statement said the signs should not be construed as a refusal to give transfers or sell exchange tickets, but that they would be furnished to any one requesting them.

If its application for abolition of free transfers and exchange tickets is held up longer, the statement said, the voluntary response of the public is not such as to provide the necessary revenue, the company "to avoid bankruptcy will be forced to raise a new tariff for an eight or ten cent fare."

MOB IS DISPERSED

Militia Prevent Taking of Negro From Jail

JONESBORO, Tenn.—Thirty-five men, many of them service men from the National Sanatorium at Johnson City, shot up the jail here Thursday night in an effort to obtain a negro held in connection with an attack on a white waitress at the sanatorium. One prisoner was slightly wounded in the attack and all windows were broken.

The jailer refused to give up the prisoner and members of the state militia from Johnson City dispersed the mob.

PEET RAN ON THE SHIMMY

TELLERIDE, Colo.—There'll be no more wiggling or squirming by dancers here. The city council has placed a ban on the shimmy. Action by the council was taken after several citizens had complained of the gyrations of some of the dancers at public hops here.

NEW EVIDENCE IN SOX PLOT FOUND

Criminal Action Against R-I-I Players Now Seen

WOMEN MAY BE SUMMONED

Wives of Diamond Stars Likely to Be Quizzed

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—New evidence which may warrant criminal prosecution of the baseball players involved in the "fixing" of the 1919 world's series was expected by the grand jury Friday when State's Attorney Madge Hoynes arrives from New York. August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds, was expected to testify Friday and Alfred S. Austin, attorney for the White Sox, announced that he believed more players were ready to tell what they know.

The grand jury which has been hearing the case will complete its regular session Friday, but Chief Justice McDonald, who ordered the investigation, said it would be retained as a special grand jury, devoting its entire time to the baseball situation. Judge McDonald said it is dangerous and prosecutors could be returned on the evidence already submitted, but that no detail will be overlooked in the investigation.

The nature of the new evidence which Hoynes says he obtained in New York is not known. He would only say he obtained the information from two men who are neither baseball men nor gamblers, and who have not yet been mentioned in the inquiry. He also asserted that he had no evidence to show that the coming 1920 world's series had been "fixed."

Other witnesses who are to be called before the grand jury include Dr. Hartman, a Chicago physician, who has done dental work for the White Sox players, and Clyde Elliott, a motion picture man, who accompanied "Kid" Gleason to St. Louis to make an investigation last fall at President "Conkley's" request. "Black" Weaver, Sox third baseman, and Fred McMullin, utility man for the club, among others, are said to be ready to appear.

Witnesses of the several players, may also be asked to tell what they knew of the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 series, it was reported. Mrs. Claude Williams, star pitcher, who had never been in a baseball game, or knew anything of the "fixing."

'BET WITH BIBLE MONEY'

Reports said to emanate from members of the White Sox team credit "Happy" Felsch with having placed $5,000, accepted as a bribe from the gamblers, as a bet at 2 to 1 on Cincinnati in the second game of the series, thus accumulating $15,000.

It is claimed he wired his wife in Milwaukee to come to Chicago for the first game here, and that when she met him his greeting was to toss the $15,000 on the table. There are various accounts as to what followed. The players said the couple had a disagreement over the affair, but later made up and Mrs. Felsch deposited the money in a savings bank here. The money was said to have been withdrawn last Monday. Mrs. Felsch is expected to be asked by the grand jury what she knows of the transaction.

GANDHI DENIES CHARGE

"Chief" Gandhi, former White Sox first baseman, who was named by Eddie Ginter, Joe Jackson, Williams and others as the man who headed the conspiracy among the players, said Thursday in Lufkin, Texas, where he is in a hospital following an operation for appendicitis, that the stories concerning him were untrue. "I never threw a game in my life," he said.

"If 'Lefty' Williams said I was the 'go-between' I shall give him a little trouble on my own hook, and make him prove his charge," Gandhi said. "As soon as I can leave the hospital, I am going straight to Chicago and face those fellows and make them admit they lied. It won't be necessary to send an officer for me."

"Buck" Herzog, second baseman of the Chicago Cubs was recovering today from three wounds inflicted by a man with a knife yesterday as he was leaving the ball park at Joliet where the Cubs played an exhibition game. Herzog was in an automobile and a man shouted "There goes the crooked Chicago ball player." The man jumped upon the running board of the car and slashed Herzog on the right hand and his left arm and leg. The wounds are not serious.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Christian Rhoda, 93. Passes Away At His Home

Christian Rhoda, 93, one of the pioneer farmers of Allen-co., was found dead in bed at his home in American-twp by members of his family Friday morning. His son had entered his room at 6:30 o'clock, and he was seemingly in the usual condition, but a few minutes later when other members of the family went to call him, he had passed away. The death resulting from infirmities.

He was born in Germany, but came to this country in 1852, settling on his farm in American-twp, where he lived for 60 years. He retired from active life several years ago, and made his home with a son, Louis Rhoda. Two other sons, William and Charles Rhoda, of the Rhoda Bros. Canning shop, also survive him. His wife preceded him in death a number of years ago.

The deceased was a member of the First Reformed church, being its oldest member. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the church, Rev. Hoerneman officiating. Interment will be made in Woodlawn cemetery.

MEN AND MATTERS

Rev. and Mrs. J. Norman King and family will hereafter make their home in Wapakoneta, residing in the Presbyterian manse in that city, on Logan-st., where Rev. King will serve as the pastor of the Wapakoneta church. Their household goods were sent to the Anglin-co. town Friday. Rev. King will continue in his position here as clerk to Service Director Elmer McClain.

Service Director Elmer McClain is making a collection of valves, of brass, etc., and other metal pipe, in his office removed from beneath the street in the main part of the city from time to time, showing the effect of electrolysis on the metal.

Fire Chief John T. Mack stated Friday that the total number of 43 fire alarm boxes in the city is to be increased by the addition of 12 more, to be erected from time to time as conditions demand and as the weather conditions will permit. Twelve Gamewell system alarm boxes have been added to the equipment and are ready to be erected.

A suggestion was made Friday by Fire Chief John T. Mack to Mayor Burkhardt, Safety Director Fred Fisher and other officials of the city that a light "squad wagon" be added to the equipment at the Central Fire Department, carrying necessary equipment for "first aid" in event of an alarm, and that three men be added, so that four men can be sent out on all calls on the "squad wagon." Chief Mack holds that this plan would not only be a convenience but also a matter of economy, as it would do away with the necessity of having trucks from another department run to the central station for down-town protection when the central station equipment is out. There are 22 firemen on duty in the city at present.

CORN NOT DAMAGED

According to reports from farmers in this vicinity made to the County farm bureau, the corn crop is practically undamaged by the cold weather of the past several days. A large amount has already been cut and the work of completing the harvesting of this crop is progressing rapidly, the indications being that the yield will be exceptionally good.

DEMONSTRATION ARRANGED. Arrangements are being made by the Allen-co. Farm Bureau whereby farmers near Corners are to demonstrate the value of ground lime stone to correct soil "acidity" or "sourness." Much of the land in the country would benefit greatly by the use of one or more tons of heavy ground limestone. It is said.

ONE-FOURTH TOTAL OF THE VOTERS OF LIMA REGISTERED THURSDAY

Members of the board of elections stated Friday that the results of the first day of registration, Thursday, were about as anticipated, considering the fact that there are three more days on which Lima voters, men and women, may register. The sudden cold snap had something to do also with the number of registrants being held down on the first day.

For the most part, registrars were compelled to sit in cold rooms during the two periods of the day, Thursday. A total of 3541 persons registered on Thursday. Those who failed to qualify for the election still have October 7, 15 and 16 to discharge that duty. The total registration of the city should be about 15,500. The number registered Thursday represents about one-fourth the estimated total.

CRABBE ACT VOTE HELD VALID

Will Go to Referendum Unless High Court Prevents

COLUMBUS.—George S. Hawke, a Cincinnati attorney, lost in his effort to prevent a referendum on the Crabbe prohibition enforcement act at the November elections when within a few hours of each other, Judge Frank Rathmell, of the common pleas court, and Judges Allread, Farneding and Kunkle of the appellate court, denied him an injunction requested to prevent Secretary of State Smith from submitting the referendum.

Hawke contended that while the referendum petitions against the Crabbe act contained 90,000 names, less than 60,000, the amount actually required, were written in ink, and contained the addresses, date, ward and precincts in the handwriting of the signers.

Both courts, however, held that the secretary of state could not be enjoined unless charges of fraud or abuse of discretion were made. The case will be carried to the supreme court, it was announced.

TWO SPEAKERS AT CLUB MEETING

Fess and O'Connor to Address Cox Club This Evening

Tonight, Friday, at 7:30 o'clock at the court house, there will be a meeting of the Allen Cox Club, to be presided over by Calvin P. Schridge, chairman of the Democratic county central committee. President J. B. Ludwig designated Mr. Schridge as the chairman of the evening.

C. L. Fess and Harry O'Connor will deliver addresses and the value of the club and women are invited to be present. Messrs. Fess and O'Connor are taking actively interest in the reform campaign. Mr. O'Connor is the Democratic candidate for Prosecution, Attorney.

This is the first of a series of local addresses planned by the Democratic committee and the Cox club other WOMAN AT THE VOUCHERS.

Beginning next Monday the women section of the Democratic headquarters 25 50 22 1/2 will be open for South Coast. The court house, with the change of the top Muller. Mrs. Muller is a student of politics for some time in anticipation of the adoption of suffrage and a qualification to form information of any character and for political that is a woman who wish to know. Any question that may be asked will be gladly answered by Mrs. Muller. Women are invited to call at the court house and meet Mrs. Muller on a regular basis. This number is 1110. Attention is directed to the fact that the women's section is open from 10 o'clock to 11 o'clock on the first day of registration.

WOMEN RUSH TO REGISTER
CLIFLAND — Approximately 12,000 women registered on the first day of registration at the Cliff Clifton. With 2,400 women missing the exact figure was 11,600. The election officials estimate the total women registered at 11,600. In the same 27 precincts 27,240 men registered. A heavy rain on day Thursday kept thousands from the booths.

WEST VIRGINIA PASSES MARYLAND IN POPULATION

WASHINGTON—West Virginia with a population of 1,145,000 in 1910, of 242,491 or 11.9 per cent of 1910, has passed Maryland in the relative standing of the states. West Virginia stood 28th in 1910 and 11th in 1920.

The census bureau announcement of West Virginia's population shows that during the last decade the state made its second largest increase in population in previous records. The birth rate in the decade 1900-1910 when it gained 22,419, but its relative increase as the lowest record. This was the sixth census of West Virginia which appeared separately in the federal census reports for the first time in 1870, having been included from Virginia in 1870.

SUICIDE WIPES OUT ENTIRE FAMILY WHEN MOTHER ENDS LIFE

TRENTON, N. J.—Suicide has entirely wiped out the family of Alfred Lawshe.

In the identification Friday of the body of Mrs. Ann Jeanette Lawshe taken from a coal here Thursday it was learned the woman, after leaving a hit and hand bag on a bridge, had plunged into the water to join in death her husband and son, both of whom died by their own hands.

Two years ago Charles, the son, ended his life by shooting. Two weeks ago, Alfred Lawshe committed suicide in Chattanooga, Tenn. Lawshe was a prominent tile manufacturer here.

But it will take at least a year for bobbed hair to go out of style if it starts going out of style right now.

There are more "Well-known Wall Street Brokers" in the headlines than there are in Wall street.

Services That Satisfy

Yes you can have such a phonograph

LET us show you the Certificate of Authenticity which Miss Corder and Miss Collette have signed. This is the outstanding fact which comes to you out of the memorable tone-test recital given last Wednesday in Memorial Hall. A new era in music is here. Mr. Edison has lifted the phonograph to the dignity of a new art.

You can no longer be satisfied with a phonograph that imitates. Now, you want a phonograph that equals the human voice.

You know there is such a phonograph. Mr. Edison made an astounding test with the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison to prove it. Lima heard the New Edison Re-Created Miss Corder's voice in direct comparison with her living voice. So realistic was the New Edison's performance that no one in the audience could distinguish it from Miss Corder's living voice.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with Soul"

You yourself can have such a phonograph. Let us show you exact duplicates of the Official Laboratory Model, which triumphed in the tone-test. Let us show you the Certificate of Authenticity, which Miss Corder and Miss Collette signed, after inspecting these instruments, and in which they declare that these instruments are the equals in every respect of the instrument used in the tone-test.

You can buy your New Edison on a Budget Plan which so distributes the payments that you'll hardly feel them.

PEOPLE OF IOWA TURN TO COX

This Year May Not be "Rockribbed Republican State."

G. O. P. FIGHTS ARE MANY

Indications Strong for Democratic Success at Polls

(BY E. M. THIERRY)
DES MOINES, Iowa—Mass attack by the Democrats may bear fruit in the "rock-ribbed Republican state of Iowa."

The situation is serious enough for Des Moines to be included in Senator Harding's vacation tour from the front porch.

That he is needed here badly is the judgment of those who see Democratic inroads in Iowa being made by the visits of Governor Cox, Franklin Roosevelt and Vice President Marshall and the recent visit of War Secretary Baker.

The campaign here is heating up considerably over the fights for senator and governor.

Senator A. B. Cummins is the Republican candidate for re-election and indications are that he is slipping.

Claude R. Porter, Centerville, lawyer and former state legislator is the Democratic candidate for senator. Porter has a splendid chance of beating Cummins largely because of his co-authorship of the Cummins-Esch bill.

NARROW ESCAPE
Cummins barely scraped thru the primaries and there is strong belief that Cummins will have the same fate in the election as came to Esch in the Wisconsin primaries.

Farmers form the bulk of Iowa's voting population, so there is small comfort for Cummins, or for Senator Harding, in the fact that an element, even stronger than labor, was also lined up against Cummins in the primaries.

Farmers supported Colonel Smith Brookhart for the nomination against Cummins.

Brookhart got one hundred thousand votes; ten thousand more than Cummins got in the primaries six years ago.

WOMEN FOR LEAGUE
The fight for governor is between N. E. Kendall, former congressman, on the Republican ticket and Clyde L. Herring, automobile dealer, on the Democratic ticket.

Herring will probably be elected, because he is running on a platform emphasizing the need for cleaning up Republican state maladministration during the last two terms.

Women are against Kendall for governor because he voted against suffrage in congress. They are for the Democratic senatorial candidate because he voted for suffrage in the legislature.

They appear to favor the League of Nations, and observers look for a majority of women to vote for Cox.

CLEVELAND AND LOST

Cleveland lost the first game with Detroit, 5 to 1 in the tenth inning. Cleveland scored four runs in the first two, and Detroit scored 1 in the seventh.

N. Y. SEN. BLAINE.—NEW YORK.—The Evening Star editorial review Friday said: "The character of Friday's stock market was not essentially different from that of Thursday's session and the volume of trading was about the same, but lighter if anything. There was much the same cleavage with respect to railroad and industrial securities, the former being strong and the latter heavy, although there were intervals in which fair rallies in power was displayed. The short-term and substantial net gains were recorded, the oil shares assuming the lead in this movement. The shorts moved to covering in earnest and with the oil in the lead, net gains were in numerous cases as much as one to two points or more. A desire to adjust accounts against the week-end largely governed the movement.

TAMPERING WITH FIRE HYDRANTS

Officials Meet to Take Steps to Stop Pernicious Practice

Officials of the city, including Mayor Burkhardt, Safety Director Fred Fisher, Service Director Elmer McClain, Engineer Vaughan Miller, Fire Chief John T. Mack, Auditor D. L. Rupert, Water Works Superintendent Chas. Evans and Street and Parks Superintendent Claude Zartman, were in conference Friday morning, at the Mayor's office, to discuss and settle a question that has been to the fore for some time, as to what department of the city which should be charged with responsibility in the matter of maintaining the fire hydrants in good working order.

Heretofore, the hydrants have been under the charge of the fire chief and it was decided to continue the present arrangement, with changes that will insure the safety of the hydrants at all times, prevent tampering by unauthorized persons and stop the use of water by contractors unless the Safety and Service Departments have knowledge of the fact that the hydrants are being used.

It is proposed to prescribe a penalty for anyone tampering with hydrants without authority. Hereafter, permits must be obtained from the Safety Department for authority to open a hydrant, and from the service department for the use of water. It was practically decided that parties given permits to use fire hydrants be required to make a deposit for the return of hydrant wrench and to guarantee that any damage done to hydrants will be paid for.

The fire department, the water works department, the street cleaning department and street repair departments have occasion to use hydrants from time to time. Instances were cited where contractors and others damaged water plugs in a serious manner by improper handling. It is proposed to place tags on hydrants, warning citizens against tampering with same, with out proper authority.

CHALLENGE UNDER CONSIDERATION

Ludwig's League Debate Deficeived by R. R. Trubey

"We are still considering the challenge issued by L. E. Ludwig, chairman of the Alliance Cox club, 'for a debate with myself or other Repu-lican on the question of the League of Nations,' R. R. Trubey, president of the Alliance Harding club, stated Friday.

"As the challenged party we feel that we should have something to say concerning the time, place and other details of the proposed debate," Mr. Trubey said. "When we are ready to answer the challenge, a formal statement will be issued."

Commenting on his challenge issued to Mr. Trubey, Mr. Ludwig said Friday: "I am tired of hearing criticism of the League of Nations that is merely fault finding for political effect. I have given Mr. Trubey and his advisers an opportunity to meet and cool their criticism. They should now either put up or shut up."

"I have sufficient faith in the members of the League of Nations that I am willing to debate it with anyone.
I hope that Mr. Trubey will not delay matters by coming back with a counter proposition that will require time in consideration, and I trust that a debate can be arranged and staged quickly. I know that a large number of people want to hear his objections to the League of Nations. If they are sincere, and I shall be at it of the opportunity to set him right on any question, if he is wrong."

BANDITS GET $1,837 FROM BANK. OVERLOOK $9,000 PAYROLL CASH

TOLEDO—Hasty bank bandits overlooked $9,000 in the cashier's drawer when they held up the south-side branch of the Ohio Savings Bank here Friday morning. The three bandits, who made their escape in an automobile which they robbed the bank vault of $1,837.
One bandit stood guard, another covered Harry Root and Robert Bell, employees, and the third rifled the vault.

Payroll funds amounting to $9,000 had just been brought into the bank by a messenger. The bandits did not see that cash.

DELPHOS—The Delphos high school football nine will meet the confidential advisor on European affairs in connection with the league of nations, has "matched the presi-

CAN'T CUT UP THESE INDIANAPOLIS DOGS

INDIANAPOLIS—Every dog has his day—even the friendless pup at the city pound. Dog lovers of Indianapolis have launched an effort to save the homeless canine from the vivisection table of Indiana University School of Medicine.

When a representative of the school appeared at the pound and asked for dogs, he was told there were none available for vivisection purposes. Several recent requests have been met with a like assertion.

The Humane Society has been disposing of unclaimed dogs by finding homes for them. If the university directors persist in their efforts to obtain the dogs, it was said legal action will be started to prevent them.

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells

Old Thorpe was called in, and told his story.

"I came in for the tray," he said, "and seen what I did see—I was fair knocked out. I did as usual, and picked up the tray to carry it to the kitchen. Mr. Tracy was by the tray at the time, and he was pouring hot water into the teacups. I don't think the man knew what he was about, none of us did, and small wonder!"

Thorpe knew nothing of the recent developments regarding Tracy, and Wise pursued: "Do you remember whether Mr. Tracy poured hot water over the broken cup?"

"That's just what he was doing," said Thorpe, "that's why I thought he didn't rightly know what he was about."

"You may go, Thorpe," said Wise.

"You see," he continued after the old man had gone, "Tracy poured boiling water from the afternoon teakettle over the broken cup, that all evidence of poison might be removed, if the bits of china were examined. I've not heard of that before done, however, but a guilty conscience would naturally fear it. That little incident shows the astuteness of his criminal mind."

"It does!" cried Professor Hardwick. "What a depraved, a demonic nature must be his! Where did he come from? Who introduced him to our party?"

"I did," said Rudolph Braye. "I had, of course, no suspicion of his real nature. I met Tracy on the train, travelling from Chicago to New York, about a year ago. He was a pleasant smoking room companion, and I've seen him several times since, in New York. I had no reason to think him other than what he represented himself, a clergyman, with a church in Chicago. He impressed me as a fine, congenial sort, and when Mrs. Landon asked me to suggest another member for our house party, I thought of him at once. His cloth seemed to me to be his adequate credentials and, in fact, I never gave a thought to his possible duplicity. Nor can I reconcile the facts, even yet. How do you know these things, Mr. Wise? Are you not romancing a little?"

"No, Mr. Braye, I am not even surmising. What I have stated is true, because there is no other possible deduction from the facts I have learned. I have identified the man Tracy who was here with you as the notorious Smug Johnny of Chicago. Do you need further knowledge of him to believe that he is the criminal in this case, rather than one of your own immediate circle?"

"No," and Milly shuddered. "It is bad enough that it should have been Mr. Tracy, but far better than to suspect one of us here."

"Furthermore," continued Wise, "let us look into the details of the death of Vernie Reid. Who can give me the exact facts as noticed?"

"I," said Eve Carnforth, "and now, as I look back, I see it all in a different light! I was looking at Mr. Bruce, as everybody was, startled by the sound of crashing china. I heard Mr. Tracy say, 'Vernie child! What is the matter?' or some such words. Then he ran quickly to her side and held her up in his arms, while I ran to them and helped him to lay her on the sofa."

"See?" said Wise, "at the moment Tracy sprang toward the girl she was unarmed, and as he put his arm around her, he stretched her arm with a sharp pointed instrument, which had been dipped in the awful poison that we have learned of. It is said to be similar to that which the barbarians of South America tip their arrows. But the least scratch is instantly fatal, and proved so in Vernie's case. The instrument he used, we have reason to think, was a steel pen."

"Why do you think that?" asked Professor Hardwick.

"Because Zizi found a few new ones in Tracy's room, that had not been used for writing purposes. There were five in a small paper packet. We have found that he bought these at a shop in the village, buying six at the time. This is merely a shrewd evidence, but the fact that Zizi found the pens became known to Mr. Tracy, in fact he caught her searching his room. It was this that made him try to do away with the child."

"Tracy? Do you mean with Zizi?" exclaimed Braye. "Why, he was gone away from here, then?"

"No, he had left the house, but he was lurking about, and after all had retired that night, he came, thru the revolving door, and kidnapped her, and threw her into the lake—as he had previously thrown in the body of Vernie Reid. That, he did."

lost the scratch on her arm be discovered by the doctors, and he be suspected."

"Then it was Tracy who discovered the secret of the revolving column," said Braye, thoughtfully. "You take a great deal for granted, Mr. Wise."

"I take nothing for granted, save what the facts prove, Mr. Braye. That Tracy used the revolving column is positive. Do you not all remember the night when Professor Hardwick saw the apparition of the Shawled Woman? On that night Mr. Tracy was supposed to be in Boston. As a matter of fact, he was not, he had left the house, saying he was going to Boston but he remained in hiding near the house, played ghost, and then went on his way."

"I was in New York that night," said Braye, musingly. "But, look here, Mr. Wise, one afternoon, about dusk, Miss Cameron and I distinctly saw the apparition of the Shawled woman in the Room with the Tassels when we ourselves were out of doors. We saw it thru the window—don't you remember, Norma?"

"I do,"

"Then that was Mr. Tracy's loings also," declared Wise. "How simple for him to get the paraphernalia from the column, where it was always in readiness, make his appearance to frighten you two, and then return the shawl and so forth before you could enter and catch him."

"It would have been possible," agreed Braye, and then Hardwick began.

There were many other strange things to be accounted for, such as moanings and rustlings in the morning at four o'clock, and also occasional odours of prussic acid, without apparent reason."

"Lay them all to Tracy," said Wise, "you won't be far out. Now, who was running that Ouija board the night it said the two people would die at four o'clock?"

"Vernie and Mr. Tracy," said Norma, "but when it said that, Mr. Tracy took his hands off and said he would have no more to do with it. He said he believed Vernie pushed it to those letters."

"He was a good actor," said Wise, looking grave and sighing; "he fooled you all, it would seem."

"He certainly fooled me, good and plenty," said Braye, angrily. "You say you have him in custody, Mr. Wise?"

"I did not say that, but I have him under such surveillance that he cannot get away. There are some other matters to be discussed. Granting Tracy's guilt, what do you ascribe as a motive?"

There was a profound silence. What could have been the motive for a perfect stranger to kill with deliberation two people who had never injured him in any way, and from whose death he could expect no pecuniary advantage?

"Look here," said Wynne Landon, suddenly. "Mr. Tracy went away from here because the spectre appeared to him. How do you account for that?"

"Mr. Tracy said so," returned Wise, "but that story of his ghostly vision was made up out of the whole cloth, which he ever had to do."

"He made up that yarn, then, as an excuse to get away?" said Hardwick.

"He did just that," replied Wise. "But what has any one to suggest as Mr. Tracy's motive for the crimes committed?"

"Plain homicidal mania," offered Hardwick, at last, as no one else spoke.

"No," said Wise. "John Tracy is not of that type. Such people are abnormal, they have special physical characteristics, and they are easily recognized, once suspicion is attached to them. Tracy is a quiet, even, debonair character, he is even-tempered, gentle-mannered, and the deeply clever he hides it under a mask of kindness and consideration. Victims of what is called homicidal mania are not at all like this. They are difficult to get along with, they do queer, inexplicable things, and most of all, they show in their faces the traits that lead them to their villainous deeds. You all know Tracy is not of this type. Therefore you must look further for his motive."

"Did he receive any bequest from Mr. Bruce's will?" asked Hardwick, wondering.

"Certainly not," asserted Landon. "He didn't know Mr. Bruce until he came up here, and that would have been no motive for his killing."

"No," decreed Wise, looking stern.

Vernie. Nor can there be any personal motive, Mr. Wise for that.

Shall we not have to ascribe it to some form of degeneracy, whether that seems plausible or not?"

"No," decreed Wise, looking stern.

ly from one to another. "No, John Tracy's motive for those two inhuman murders was the motive that is oftenest the reason for murder—money lust!"

CHALLENGE UNDER CONSIDERATION

Ludwig's League Debate Defl Received by R. R. Trubey

"We are still considering the challenge issued by L. R. Ludwig, chairman of the Allen-Cox club, for a debate with myself or other Republican on the question of the League of Nations," R. R. Trubey, president of the Allen-Cox Harding club, stated Friday.

"As the challenged party we feel that we should have something to say concerning the time, place and other details of the proposed debate," Mr. Trubey said. "When we are ready to answer the challenge, a formal statement will be issued."

Commenting on his challenge issued to Mr. Trubey, Mr. Ludwig said Friday: "I am tired of hearing criticism of the League of Nations that is merely fault finding for political effect. I have given Mr. Trubey and his advisers an opportunity to meet and either put up or shut up."

"I have sufficient faith in the merits of the League of Nations that I am willing to debate it with anyone. I hope that Mr. Trubey will not delay matters by coming back with a counter proposition that will result in time in considering, and I trust that a debate can be arranged and staged quickly. I know that a large number of people want to hear his objections to the League of Nations. If they are sincere, and I shall be glad of the opportunity to set him right on any question, if he is wrong."

BANDITS GET $1,837 FROM BANK. OVERLOOK $9,000 PAYROLL CASH

TOLEDO—Hasty bank bandits overlooked $9,000 in the cashier's drawer when they held up the south side branch of the Ohio Savings Bank here Friday morning. The three bandits, who made their escape in an automobile which they later deserted at the union station, robbed the bank vault of $1,837. One bandit stood guard, another covered Harry Root and Robert Bell, employees, and the third rifled the vault.

Payroll funds amounting to $9,000 had just been brought into the bank by a messenger. The bandits did not see that cash.

DELPHOS—The Delphos high school football team will meet the Defiance squad here Friday.

MRS. MITCHELL DIES

Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, 36, wife of Clifford Mitchell, 49 N. Union-st., died at their home Thursday following an illness caused by a stroke of paralysis some weeks ago. The husband and four sisters survive. They are: Mrs. Ellen Rowlands and Mrs. Edith Courtney, West Virginia; Mrs. E. Woolfor, Philadelphia; and Mrs. Edith Wilson, Baltimore. Md. Funeral arrangements are incomplete, but services will probably be held at the late residence Monday.

COL. HOUSE CONTRIBUTES

NEW YORK—Colonel E. M. House, who was President Wilson's confidential advisor on European affairs in connection with the league of nations, has "matched the president" with a $500 contribution to the Democratic "League" thousand-club. Democratic national headquarters announced here today.

CAN'T CUT UP THESE INDIANAPOLIS DOGS

INDIANAPOLIS—Every dog has his day—even the friendless pup at the city pound. Dog lovers of Indianapolis have launched an effort to save the homeless canine from the vivisection table of Indiana University School of Medicine.

When a representative of the school appeared at the pound and asked for dogs, he was told there were none available for vivisection purposes. Several recent requests have been met with a like assertion. The Humane Society has been disposing of unclaimed dogs by finding homes for them. If the university directors persist in their efforts to obtain the dogs, it was said legal action will be started to prevent them.

TEMPERANCE SOCIETIES GO OUT OF BUSINESS

BOSTON.—Here's an answer to the question, "What are the temperance societies doing since prohibition came in?" The Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal Church has gone out of existence. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is planning to turn its fire on other forms of immorality. The Unitarian Temperance Society will attack all social evils. The Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society has become inactive. Temperance societies in general have let up. No longer are collections taken in the churches for temperance work.

In addition to being correctly corseted it makes a difference where you purchase the garment. Thirty-two years ago the first corset was sold in this store and while the corsets for the woman today are vastly different in style and shape, the same thought is present today as it was when the first corset was sold here and that is to give the buyer the best corset in the world at a reasonable price. # THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells

Old Thorpe was called in, and told his story.

"I came in for the tray," he said, "and I saw what I did see—I was fair knocked out. I did as usual, and picked up the tray to carry it to the kitchen. Mr. Tracy was by the tray at the time, and he was pouring hot water into the teacups. I don't think the man knew what he was about, none of us did, and small wonder!"

Thorpe knew nothing of the recent developments regarding Tracy, and Wise pursued: "Do you remember whether Mr. Tracy poured hot water over the broken cup?"

"That's just what he was doing, sir, that's why I thought he didn't rightly know what he was about."

"You may go, Thorpe," said Wise. "You see," he continued after the old man had gone, "Tracy poured boiling water from the afternoon teacup over the broken cup, that all evidence of poison might be removed, if the bits of china were examined. I've not heard of that before done, however, but a guilty conscience would naturally fear it. That little incident shows the astuteness of his criminal mind."

"It does!" cried Professor Hardwick. "What a depraved, a demonic nature must be his! Where did he come from? Who introduced him to our party?"

"I did," said Rudolph Braye. "I had, of course, no suspicion of his real nature. I met Tracy on the train, travelling from Chicago to New York, about a year ago. He was a pleasant smoking room companion, and I've seen him several times since, in New York. I had no reason to think him other than what he represented himself, a clergyman, with a church in Chicago. He impressed me as a fine, congenial sort, and when Mrs. Landon asked me to suggest another member for our house party, I thought of him at once. His cloth seemed to me to be his adequate credentials, and, in fact, I never gave a thought to his possible duplicity. Nor can I reconcile the facts even yet. How do you know these things, Mr. Wise? Are you not romancing a little?"

"No, Mr. Braye, I am not even romancing. What I have stated is true, because there is no other possible deduction from the facts I have learned. I have identified the man Tracy who was here with you as the notorious Sam Johnson of Chicago. Do you need further knowledge of him to believe that he is the criminal in this case, rather than one of your own immediate circle?"

"No," and Villy shuddered. "It is bad enough that it should have been Mr. Tracy, but far better than to suspect one of us here."

"Furthermore," continued Wise, "let us look into the details of the death of Vernie Reid. Who can give me the exact facts as noticed?"

"I," said Eve Camforth; "and, now as I look back I see it all in a different light. I was looking at Mr. Bruce, as everybody was, startled by the sound of crashing china. I heard Mr. Tracy say, 'Vernie (child) What is the matter?' or some such words. Then he ran quickly to her side and held her up in his arms, while I ran to them and helped him to lay her on the sofa."

"See?" said Wise, "at the moment Tracy sprang toward the girl she was unharmed, and as he put his arm around her, he scratched her arm with a sharp pointed instrument, which had been dipped in the awful poison that we have learned of. It is said to be similar to that which the barbarians of South America use to scratch their enemies. But the least scratch is instantly fatal, and proved so in Vernie's case. The instrument he used, we have reason to think, was a steel pen."

"Why do you think that?" asked Professor Hardwick.

"Because Ziti found a few new ones in Tracy's room, that had not been used for writing purposes. There were five in a small paper parcel. We have found that he bought these at a shop in the village, buying six at the time. This is merely a shrewd evidence, but the fact that Ziti found the pen became known to Mr. Tracy, in fact he caught her scratching his room. It was this that made him try to do away with the child."

"Tracy did not wish Ziti to escape," said Braye. "He was gone away from here then."

"No," said Villy, "he was not. He was thinking about it, and after all had passed that night, he came through the revolving door, and kidnapped me, and threw me into the lake. It is he, I am sure, who is in the room with the tassels. That he did."

"Then that was Mr. Tracy's longings also," declared Wise. "How simple for him to get the paraphernalia from the column, where it was always in readiness, make his appearance to frighten you two, and then return the shawl and so forth before you could enter and catch him."

"It would have been possible," agreed Braye, and then Hardwick began.

There were many other strange things to be accounted for, such as moanings and rustlings in the morning at four o'clock, and also occasional odours of prussic acid, without apparent reason."

"Lay them all to Tracy," said Wise, "you won't be far out. Now, who was running that Oulla board the night it said the two people would die at four o'clock?"

"Vernie and Mr. Tracy," said Norma, "but when it said that, Mr. Tracy took his hands off and said he would have no more to do with it. He said he believed Vernie pushed it to those letters."

"He was a good actor," said Wise, looking grave and sighing; "he fooled you all, it would seem."

"He certainly fooled me, good and plenty," said Braye, angrily. "You say you have him in custody, Mr. Wise?"

"I did not say that, but I have him under such surveillance that he cannot get away. There are some other matters to be discussed. Granting Tracy's guilt, what do you ascribe as a motive?"

There was a profound silence. What could have been the motive for a perfect stranger to kill with deliberation two people who had never injured him in any way, and from whose death he could expect no pecuniary advantage?

"Look here," said Wynne Landon, suddenly, "Mr. Tracy went away from here because the spectre appeared to him. How do you account for that?"

"Mr. Tracy said so," returned Wise, "but that story of his ghostly vision was made up out of the whole cloth, which was all of the cloth with which he ever had to do."

"He made up that yarn, then, as an excuse to get away," said Hardwick.

"He did just that," replied Wise. "But what was any one to suggest as Mr. Tracy's motive for the crimes committed?"

"Plain homicidal mania," offered Hardwick, at last, as no one else spoke.

"No," said Wise. "John Tracy is not of that type. Such people are abnormal, they have special physical characteristics, and they are easily recognized, once suspicion is attached to them. Tracy is a quiet, even debonaire character, he is even-tempered, gentle-mannered, and the deeply clever he hides it under a mask of kindness and consideration. Victims of what is called homicidal mania are not at all like this. They are difficult to get along with, they do queer, inexplicable things, and most of all, they show in their faces the traits that lead them to their villainous deeds. You all know Tracy is not of this type. Therefore you must look further for his motive."

"Did he receive any bequest from Mr. Bruce's will?" asked Hardwick, wonderingly.

"Certainly not," asserted Landon. "He didn't know Mr. Bruce until we came up here, and that would have been no motive for his killing Vernie. Nor can there be any personal motive, Mr. Wise for that. Shall we not have to ascribe it to some form of degeneracy, whether that seems plausible or not?"

"No," decreed Wise, looking sternly from one to another. "No, John Tracy's motive for those two inhuman murders was the motive that is oftenest the reason for murder—money lust!"

Weather Man Says it Will be Colder Tonight

Lima continued to shiver Friday and the prospects for Friday night and Saturday were not bright. The weather man predicts frosts and colder weather, which may cause suffering.

The Ohio Electric announced Friday afternoon city heat will be turned on Friday evening. This will prevent the discomfort those in downtown office buildings have been experiencing for the last two days.

There were no indications that the coal situation would become better and the natural gas continued at practically nothing Friday.

The thermometer at the Solar refinery registered 41 at 4 a. m. and 18 at 2 p. m.

NEW OWNER OF THEATERS ANNOUNCES FUTURE PLANS

That Lima will have two more up-to-date moving picture houses was the statement Friday by George Mallers who has just completed a deal with G. O. Dapkins whereby Mallers takes over the Royal and Dreamland theatres. He said they will be remodeled and brought to a standard.

Dapkins announced he will devote his time to other business enterprises. He was one of the veteran moving picture men of the city, having been in this business here for the last 12 years.

Mallers has control of the Lyris and Rialto theatres, his latest deal giving him four play houses.

OPEN LETTERS

To Members of City Council
DEAR DADS: Since the voters of Lima have three times refused to sanction a bond sale for the purpose of taking the stink out of my beautiful (?) and highly perfumed water course, the Ottawa river, better known as Hawg Krick, I have been wondering if there isn't some method by which the necessary funds can be provided for the construction of intercepting sewers along the stream, to take up sewage, without the necessity of calling for a vote of the people on a bond issue.

Cold weather is near at hand, it is true, and that will help keep down the smell, but another summer will be here within a few months. Hawg Krick and its terrible stench is one of the worst black eyes I have. My visitors have to use clothes pins on their noses, when they go near it. Can't you do something?

LIMA BEANE.

To Congressman Reed
MY DEAR DAN: I am mighty glad to have you here with your shoulder to the wheel in such an energetic manner in putting over the Chamber of Commerce membership drive.

I've heard you on more than one occasion in after-dinner talks and it's my opinion, deliberately arrived at, that anyone who can resist your wonderful oratory and get away from the influence of your argument without signing up for a C. C. membership, doesn't stack up well with a correct definition of the duty of citizenship. Here's hoping the C. C. membership goal of 1,200 will quickly be attained.

LIMA BEANE.

To the Women Voters
DEAR LADIES: I have been told that many of you are not looking upon your opportunity to join the great army of voters with the measure of favor that you should view it, since by the 19th amendment to the constitution of the United States of America you have been accorded a voice in the affairs of this good land of ours.

You are privileged to vote on candidates and measures; you may hold office; you have equal rights with men in all departments of governmental affairs. You must expect to be held responsible with men for the success or failure of government. It is your duty to interest yourself in the affairs of your country.

LIMA BEANE.

To High School Students
MY FRIENDS: I have heard complaints that you are not as hospitable as might be desired to visiting athletic teams. I have heard it said that no entertainment has been provided and that you do not make the boys feel at home when they come here to compete with your teams. If that is true, mend your ways. Show good sportsmanship by giving them the glad hand.

LIMA BEANE.

To Rev. W. A. Tobin
REVEREND SIR: I wish to state that all Lima rejoices with you and your excellent campaign committee, that your efforts to clear the indebtedness on the K. C. Recreation Center met with such splendid success and that it was done so quickly.

You have builded for the future in providing this excellent enterprise for Lima. Each and every one of the men interested in the Recreation Center deserves, with you, the greatest praise.

LIMA BEANE.

To Prospective Investors
MY FRIENDS: With the period of prosperity most of you are enjoying you have considerable money to invest. I have spoken to you before concerning this matter, but I want to keep it fresh in your minds and perhaps save you worry and loss.

Unless you are exceptions most of you probably have been tempted to take a flier in some foreign proposition because it looked good on paper, but about which you knew nothing. There are scores of such propositions offered, but the safest way is to leave them alone.

If you have money to invest see a Lima banker or broker who is not here one day and gone the next but who can give you safe advice. This is always a good point to remember.

LIMA BEANE.

To Some Owners of Rental Property
KIND FRIENDS: My boys and girls are the hope of the future. Upon them will depend what the community will be 40 years hence. I am proud of them and want their welfare assured. This by way of explanation.

Many of you refuse to rent to persons with children. Your arguments are sound from an investment standpoint—they may make the upkeep higher. But what would become of a city without children? Everyone cannot own a home; there must be renters and there must be children.

LIMA BEANE.

To Warren G. Harding
DEAR SENATOR: Most of us, like Lincoln, believe this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. When I read your speeches and hear your ideas of government, however, I am reminded that this is an age of substitutes.

LIMA BEANE.

To Georges Carpentier
DEAR GEORGES: You brought with you, I hear, 50 trunks for your fight with Jack Dempsey. Georges, you will need only one—your fighting trunk.

LIMA BEANE.

To Those Who Smoke in Street Cars
BOYS, some of you make a practice of smoking in street cars, I have observed. Please stop it. You certainly can wait until until you reach your destination to smoke. Other patrons will appreciate it.

LIMA BEANE.

To Mrs. Asquith, Wife of the Former British Premier
DEAR FRIEND: The other day you said that women nowadays aren't as beautiful as they were a generation ago. That may be true of the belles of Mayfair, but, Emma, have you ever been in Lima?

LIMA BEANE.

To Smokers
GENTLEMEN: I have noticed that many of you have a bad habit of striking matches on buildings or any place convenient when you want to light your cigar or cigaret. You probably do not think at the time of the damage it is doing, but just notice the front of some building which has suffered from the practice. It will be good exercise for you to stoop and strike matches on the pavement. Try it.

LIMA BEANE.

HEALTH HINTS

TRAUMATIC PNEUMONIA.
Traumatic is good English, not medical, and it means pertaining to injury.
When the sensibility of the throat is benumbed, as in unconsciousness from any cause, be it in illness, accident, poisoning or surgical anesthesia, minute foreign particles may be aspirated (drawn in) and convey into the chest a mass of Pneumococci, which germs are found in nearly every mouth and in about 20 per cent of individuals examined, they are present in virulent or business-like condition. A severe blow upon the chest may produce a form of pneumonia.
The so-called "ether pneumonia," which follows the administration of ether in rare instances (some three cases in eight thousand anesthetics) is probably purely and simply an aspiration pneumonia and has nothing to do with chilling or the temperature of the operating room. It is best prevented by very thorough cleansing of the mouth before the administration of the anesthetic—a feature which is sometimes not properly attended to. Pneumonia has been found no more likely to occur when the operating-room temperature is kept cool than when it is kept depressingly hot, but we have a lot of old fogies doing surgery nowadays and they like to keep it nice and warm so nobody will "take cold." One notes in some of these torrid operating rooms that the mosquito surgeons are not nearly so careful about keeping the patient warm as they are about keeping all hands in a profuse sweat. Aside from his technical experience, the average surgeon is a poorly trained doctor.
It is a common thing to hear that John Jones fell in the river and was reached and if he escapes pneumonia he will live. John languishes for a few hours, probably dodging pneumonia by whatever means the old ladies in charge deem best and lives. In fact John's cold ducking is no more likely to cause pneumonia than that is another question, for along may be a few virulent Pneumococci it is to cause hookworm disease, if with the water that finds its way from his mouth or throat and John inhales portions of the water, into his breathing passages there's chance for a pneumonia to follow.

What They Read in the Klondike

By Mrs. Helen Green Van Campen, Author "Behind the Scenes," etc.
In The Morning Telegraph, New York

"Every one wishes to hear about what is going on in the wide world, and you will be interested to know what is our most popular publication in the Northland. It is THE LITERARY DIGEST.

"I was out in the wild country looking over a mining prospect, and while on the move toward my destination, an old miner ran out from his shack and bid us stop. He said, 'Got a LITERARY DIGEST for me?' I talked with him and he said he wanted THE LITERARY DIGEST because it told him about what was going on in the world—everywhere. He got his news in condensed form and liked it that way. I have since investigated and have found that virtually everyone up here looks to THE LITERARY DIGEST to tell them things. Not everyone takes the publication of course, but when a man reads it he saves it and passes it on to a neighbor, who passes it along in the same fashion.

"It is interesting to see one of the old timers sit down to read his LITERARY DIGEST. It is a serious matter with him; he does not merely skim through it; he reads it carefully, advertisements and all, like old man Jucklin did his Bible—'from kiver to kiver.'

"Then he gives it to another old timer who also reads it from start to finish. Afterwards they light their pipes and engage in debate on the topics they have been reading about.

"And I, even I, have got the habit, too. Please mail a LITERARY DIGEST to me every week if you can think to do it."

YOUR NAME

VARIATIONS — Dollman, Dolman, Dalman, Alaman, Allman, Lallman, etc.

RACIAL ORIGIN — Norman French. SOURCE — Geographical.

Here is a group of family names, all from the same source, but in every one of which all clue to that source is well concealed.

These names were originally additions to given names which were descriptive of the nationality of the country from which the bearers had come.

During the period of the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth centuries the English language had not developed the name "German," which, by the way, is the name for Germany in no other language than English.

The common word in those days was "that from which the modern French name for Germany has developed "Alman" or "Alman."

Merchants and artisans who came to England from the inland sections of Germany (in contrast to those from the seaports, who were called "Lasterlings") were known either by some such title as "Raynard d'Alman" or "Raynard le Almande," "Le Alman," "de Alman" also are forms frequently met with in the old records.

It is easy to see how such descriptive addition to a name would be corrupted into some form that sounded like them as soon as the medieval immigrant had been in England long enough for his neighbors to forget their real meaning. Thus "d'Alman" has become either Tallman or Dollman, and "de Alman" has become Allman. The variation Lallman probably has come into England at a later period from the French, for Norman-French ceased to be the predominant tongue of England before it had a chance to shorten the "le" into "l" of modern French. Even before words beginning with a vowel it is found in the old records in the form of "le."

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT TODAY

This is an unfortunate day. It is a lucky rule, however, for purchasing land on which to build a home.

Everything pertaining to oil has a good augury today.

This is not a fortunate day for seeking employment or promotion.

An increase in immorality is predicted.

The persons whose birthday this is should avoid flirtation. Children born today will be great favorites with the opposite sex.

JUST A GIRL

AN UNPLEASANT EPISODE

"I'm going your way, Zena. I'll walk with you."

It was the only voice of the floor-walker, the only one in the entire store the girls had given the reputation of discharging them unless he could bend them to his will.

He had said nothing objectionable to me as yet, so I walked quietly along, altho my heart was faintly pounding. It he said things I resented, he would discharge me. So the girls said:

"You're going to ask me in, ain't you?"

"No. My roommate and I are always too busy to entertain company. We have too much to do when we reach home."

"Who is your room-mate? One of our girls?"

"No. A very fine woman, a head waitress in one of the big restaurants. I had purposely said 'woman' if he thought I roomed with an older person it might cause him to leave me before he had said any more."

"I suppose she takes good care of you."

"I can take care of myself, Mr. Gray. Good night!" I fairly flew up the steps.

I expected to be discharged but nothing happened—not for several days. Then he repeated his action and walked beside me all the way home.

"Going to let me come in this time?"

"No. Mr. Gray. I told you we did not receive callers."

"I don't want you to see anybody, but me. I'm crazy about you, Zena, and I'll make things easy for you in the store. Let you transferred to the glove or val's if you say so."

"I want nothing you can do for me!" I exclaimed. "I have told you we do not receive callers."

The next day complaints commenced to go in to the head of the department about me. My work, I told Mary and said I was sure I should lose my place.

"Don't you know I have been thinking about you, Zena, and me. I have been learning a lot too. It you can hang on a while longer do so, but if you can't I spring in the idea."

"Tell me, Mr. Gray. I know you won't get the side of the store, but I'll be a mouth at two."

"His Fagin had overheard me and had given me enough to tell so kindly to me. I told him I was in the store and he would tell me my room in the store."

that I was almost unnered. I had learned to endure rebuffs of all kinds, but kindness had been a stranger for so long that it made a baby of me.

I felt sort of guilty, too. I recalled how I used to look upon the Mrs. Fagins of the world—how I had thought them useful only as servants. Now she was a friend, a real friend, instead of a servant, caring nothing for any one so long as she got high wages.

I kept my position just a month longer. Then I was discharged, my real reason being given. When I asked for one the manager said: "The dull season is coming on, and as you were one of the last girls taken on at that counter, naturally you are not efficient as the others."

"I'm going to ask me in, ain't you?"

"No. My roommate and I are always too busy to entertain company. We have too much to do when we reach home."

"Who is your room-mate? One of our girls?"

"No. A very fine woman, a head waitress in one of the big restaurants. I had purposely said 'woman' if he thought I roomed with an older person it might cause him to leave me before he had said any more."

Keeping Fit

BY DR. SAMUEL HAMILTON.

It is because of the war that the perfect physical man has all at once become the idol of the world. You can make of yourself, even rather late in life, almost anything you like. You are not going to get fit in one day, one month, or, perhaps, a year, unless you take enough outdoor exercise to keep the circulation going and practise the athlete's first principle—to keep the system clean. He does not give his body a chance to absorb poisons. He not only takes his cold shower, after exercise, but he knows a cleansing of the intestines is important, and he takes occasionally a good regulator and liver cleanser, such as a dose of castor oil, or, what is much better, a tiny pill made up of May-apple, aloin and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in the land as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Keep the kidneys in good order also.

Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid). This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

Send a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headaches, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. Take heed, before too late! Get Anuric (anti-uric-acid), for it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Ask your nearest druggist for it or send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package of "Anuric."

NEW PUMP NEEDED SAYS MACK

Old Steamer of Little Use in Fighting Bad Fires

Safety Director Fred Fisher announced Friday the taller buildings of Lima are constantly menaced by fire, due to the condition of the steamer at Central fire station. The boiler, when inspected recently was pronounced unsafe. The entire inside of the boiler is pitted, according to the inspector's report.

"The boiler is liable to explode any minute when it is in use," declared Fire Chief John Mack. He said it has been in use in Lima for 20 years, and that when it was new it was intended for six lines of hose. Now he said it does well to take care of two lines.

Chief Mack declared in order to have safety from fire in the built-up section of the city a pump driven by a gasoline motor should be provided. He said a pump capable of feeding six lines of hose is the least that would be of benefit.

"With the new ten story building going up," said the chief, the water pressure is not safe, and if the steamer goes out of commission all we can do is to let the fire burn at its head, ready of the pressure in the water mains."

At the Leader store fire Mack declared the steamer sprung a small leak in the crown sheet, which spread until it was 2-1/2 of an inch in diameter. An inspection was made immediately following.

Safety Director Fisher said he will take the matter up with the fire committee of the city council at an early date.

WHY 5%

The question is frequently asked, "Why does a Savings and Loan Company pay five per cent interest on deposits instead of a lower rate?"

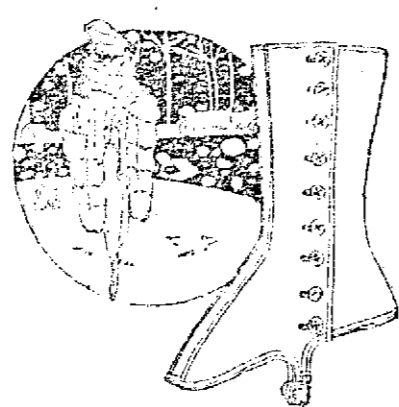

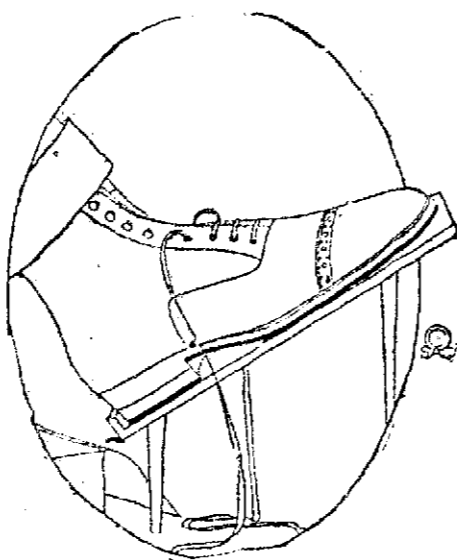

It is a fair question and here is a fair answer from The Allen County Savings and Loan Company as to its method of business.

This company makes loans only upon approved real estate security and the business has been so carefully managed that not one dollar of any loan has ever been lost; the insurance policies covering buildings on the land mortgaged must always be made payable to the company in case of loss by fire, withdrawals of deposits are usually permitted when called for, but the company reserves the right to require notice of withdrawal; and a lower "overhead" expense makes a wide margin of profit necessary.

All loans made by this company are made upon property in or near Lima and help to build up our own community and increases the value of local property and the number of home owners.

Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly."—"My nerves are all on edge."—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month. I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully. I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."

ELIZABETH WEAVER, R. R. 2, North East, Md.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."

FIVE BALLOTS TO BE VOTED

Quintette of Tickets for Lima and Two Townships in County

The voters of Lima will be handed five ballots when they enter the election booths at the coming November election—sufficient to stagger a hardened old voter and certainly disconcerting to the new women voters.

But the ballots are easy to understand and are all handled in the same way. The first will be the presidential electoral ballot, the Ohio law requiring that these be voted for on separate ballots from the regular state, district and county officers. The second ballot will be for state, district and county officers. The third will be the judicial ballot, the Ohio law providing that candidates for judicial positions must be voted for on non-partisan separate ballots.

Voters in using this ballot will not be guided by either party emblem or party designation; nor will the names appear in the same order on all ballots. The voter who merely wants to vote "regular" in this matter will have to post himself as to who the candidate for his party on the ticket is. Otherwise, he is likely to vote for the other fellow.

The fourth ballot will be for the purpose of the referendum on the (Crabbe act of the present legislature, providing for the enforcement of state prohibition. The voters propose to have the voters reject it.

The fifth ballot will be on the adoption or the rejection of the charter for the proposed commission-manager form of government for Lima. The voters of American-up will all so be handed five ballots, the fifth to be on the question of the issue of $2,500 bonds for the purchase of additional school and the creation of a township house.

LEADERS READY FOR FINAL DASH AFTER ENFORCED DELAY

WHITE SOX TO STACK UP AGAINST ST. LOUIS WITH CRIPPLED TEAM—CLEVELAND PREPARES FOR DOUBLEHEADER WITH THE DETROIT

SEASON WILL END IN NATIONAL SUNDAY; WEATHER IS BAD

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The Chicago White Sox and St. Louis prepared today to open the series that may prove the deciding factor in the American League pennant race. Three games will be played, the final contest Sunday bringing the 1920 campaign to a close.

Trailing Cleveland, the league leaders, by a game and a half, the Sox still have a chance to finish in the van and enter the lists with Brooklyn.

The Indians gained a full game on the runners-up during the series just concluded, defeating the Browns four straight, the last two victories coming while Chicago was idle.

Several mathematical possibilities are presented, but by taking the three games, Chicago would force the pacemakers to win three of their remaining four games with Detroit, an even break for Cleveland would leave the two leaders tied and necessitate a playoff.

Today's game will be the first in which the Sox have participated since the gambling expose in Chicago earlier in the week that resulted in the suspension of seven members of the club.

As a result, Manager Gleason has been forced to reorganize both infield and outfield, and will make the final stand for the pennant with a depleted pitching staff.

Football weather and a drizzling rain greeted the Cleveland and Detroit American League teams this morning as they prepared to open a four game series at Detroit which may decide whether the Indians retain their lead over the Chicago White Sox. A double header to make up for the postponement of yesterday's game was scheduled for this afternoon.

To clinch the flag and win the right to meet Brooklyn in the world's series, Cleveland must win three of the games to be played here providing Chicago wins its three remaining games.

Walter Mills was Speaker's probable pitching choice for the opening contest today. Ehmke and Dauss were slated to do the twirling for the Tigers.

PITCHING STAFFS OF TWO CONTENDERS ARE COMPARED

In this article Henry L. Farrell, baseball authority analyzes the strength of the pitching staffs of clubs who probably will meet in the world series. Tomorrow Farrell will compare the catchers.

NEW YORK — Some of the best pitching arms in the major leagues will go into action in the coming world series.

Walter "Duster" Mills, the star southpaw of the Indians, probably will attract the most attention. When those two sterling hurlers, Jim Bagby and Stan Coveleskie, were faltering under the heavy load of carrying a pennant containing club almost entirely on their shoulders, Manager Speaker picked up Mills from the Sacramento club in a deal involving about $30,000.

The Indians were in dire straits for a southpaw. Niehaus, the prize pitcher of the American Association, has failed, but Mills delivered from the start. He jumped in and won six straight games.

On top of this, young Mr. Mills has a score to settle with Brooklyn. He was "given the gate" by the Robins on his first trial in fast company. He told the fans out on the coast that he was going to get even some day with the club that turned him down.

By a strange coincidence, he probably will get his chance in the first game.

Cleveland has a small, but brilliant pitching staff. Brooklyn has a huge and equally capable stable of hurlers. Cleveland has Bagby, Coveleskie, Mills and Caldwell with Morton and Chle for relief. Brooklyn has Grimes, Pfeffer, Marmann, Marquard and Smith, one of the best pitching combinations in the major leagues, with Cadore and Mitchell in reserve.

Speaker's weakness—the lack of left-hand pitching—which bothered him all season—will be another problem in the world's series although not so pronounced with young, husky, Mills around. Eighteen of the 21 Dodgers bat from the right side of the plate, seven of them regulars, including the big three, Myers, Johnson and Konechny.

THREE LEFT-HANDERS "Uncle Robby" on the other hand, has three good southpaws. Marquard, Sherry Smith and Mitchell and it gives him a distinct advantage inasmuch as the Cleveland is heavy in left-hand batters. Twelve of the 22 Indians bat from the near side of the plate, seven of them regulars, including Speaker, Gardner, Smith and Sewell.

Brooklyn has seven dependable pitchers to use against Cleveland's four—a case almost parallel to the Reds' advantage over the White Sox last year.

In defensive strength the choice of the two staffs goes to numbers. On the offense they are fairly evenly matched, Brooklyn having the slight advantage of .227 to .221.

Grimes and Bagby are the two leading pitchers on the opposing sides. Grimes is a better hitter, one of the best-hitting pitchers in the National League, with an average of .300. Bagby is the best pitcher in the American League. He has won 39 games, and lost 11, comprising a very hard season, but he is still in form. Of this pair, Bagby gets the choice.

On comparative figures, Stan Coveleskie and Big Jeff Pfeffer are rated together. Pfeffer is a fast ball pitcher and strong when going well, but he's erratic and in a bad way when they get the range on him.

COVELESKIE BIG ASSET Coveleskie, a splitter, is one of the best pitchers in the big leagues. He, like Bagby, has had a hard season, but is likewise in form. He too, is superior.

Mills on his brilliant late season record, is a better pitcher than Al Marmann. The main concern is about the ability of Mills to "carry weight." Doubts might be dissipated, however, by considering that his string of six consecutive victories was run up under the severe strain of a heated race when one game almost cost him the pennant.

Ray Caldwell, and Ruben Marquard are fairly evenly matched, with Caldwell favored slightly in the figures. Both are good when right. Marquard looked good in the last start and almost sure of pitching one game.

BETTER THAN FIGURES Sherry Smith is a better pitcher than the figures show. He is just getting back into form, after a strain of the record extra-inning game he pitched. Brooklyn then has Cadore, a hard-hitting pitcher and Clarence Mitchell, the versatile southpaw pitcher, outfielder and first baseman.

Against them Speaker has Morton and Chle, two "in and outers."

Cleveland, perhaps, has the more brilliant staff, but it is numerically weak. What Robinson lacks in brilliancy, he makes up in numbers. He has a distinct advantage in his reserve strength.

But perhaps Bagby, Coveleskie and Mills can do it themselves.

HIGH SCHOOLS PLAY BIG BOUT ON FOREIGN SOIL

On the eve of their first football battle Central is confident of a victory over Bowling Green. The team has been showing up good lately in practice and the bad weather may be a help as it was during this kind of weather that Central won their 6-0 victory over Bowling Green last year.

Captain Patrick announced the probable line-up for Central as: Douglass, r. e., Dille, c. f., Aab, r. g., Harrell, c. f., Fritz, l. g., Drew, l. l., Hunter, l. e., Capt. Blunk, q. b., Carl Young or Laughlin, h. b., Retzoff or P. Mitchell, r. b., Taylor, f. b., Substitutes will probably be: Mosher, Evans and Collis Young.

The team leaves at 7:45 a. m. for the Western Ohio R. R.

South, with one victory to their credit has been practicing hard and is now ready to open their Trolley League schedule with Findlay Saturday, at Findlay. South demonstrated to the people of Lima that they have a real football team this year and the Findlay is rumored to have one of the scrappiest teams in the league. South is expected to come out on top. Coach Jackson has not yet announced his line-up for Saturday.

Don't treat 'em rough

Here's some good advice that will save money for you: Take care of your clothes; brush them often; hang them up on a good hanger at night; take all heavy articles out of the pockets--keys, note-books; etc.; alternate your suits---wear one a few days and change off. Good clothes deserve good care. You'll be well repaid if you "treat 'em" with care.

Fall Styles for Young Men

You ought to see them. New ones from Hart Schaffner & Marx that are the liveliest we've ever seen. Simplicity is the main note, but it's interpreted in such a way that the clothes look distinctive.

We've made our prices very low and our standards are very high. If you aren't satisfied we give you another suit.

ENTERTAINING IS ORPHEUM BILL

Headliners Offer Good Act—Acrobatic and Comedy

Movies Present Features—News Of the Theaters

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)

THO not to be classed as a program without a flaw, the bill being presented at the Orpheum the last half of this week and Sunday contains a goodly percentage of real entertainment.

The headliners, Keeno, Melrose & Keys, offer an exceptionally good act, which comprises some acrobatic stunts combined with good comedy. It is, in fact, one of the best acrobatic acts presented here this season.

Another act that should win instant approval is presented by Le-Hen and Dupreco, entitled "Some-where in Texas." Besides "Being marveled with guns, the two have splendid voices and some snappy and original jokes.

Stanley Galini & Co. offer a distinct novelty in the form of Shadowisms. They impersonate animals and character subjects and are artists in their line. One of the company is a boy of about fourteen.

Gwen and Clark offer a little skit entitled "Nifty Nonsense." It may be nonsense, in fact, it is, but the nifty part of it is not so evident.

Mack and Roberts, black-face comedians have an ordinary act, but the woman in the company has an unusually well-trained voice and is therefore well received. Voices like hers are few and far between on a vaudeville stage.

Harry Taylor, billed as the Versatile Scot, comes forward with an array of jokes and songs, funny and otherwise.

This program should make an hour and a half pass pleasantly for anyone.

Short Shavings

A messenger boy in the Broadway office of the Postal Telegraph company is always reading hard novels. The manager had to find the other day:

"Learn, learn your ambition to me!"

The boy put down his Indian story and said gravely:

"To have people tremble like leaves at the mere mention of my name."

Small Dorothy was meeting the farm creature for the first time in her life during a wonderful summer on a Pennsylvania farm.

They all appeared curious and interesting, but the most peculiar of all was the hen who had been sitting on some duck eggs, and who had hatched out ducklings.

Dorothy watched this family with keen delight. Then she regarded another hen—one with real chick. It was a confusing situation. At last there came a gleam of understanding. "A hen!" she said, suddenly, and all turned to hear her solution. "They don't look like their mother," she said, "so it must be their father they take after. These probably are just the fathers of him!"

A Sunday school teacher, trying to impress her teaching about the future life upon the plastic minds of her youthful pupils, asked all those who wanted to go to heaven to stand up. Three-year-old born alone remained seated.

"Why, born?" questioned the teacher. "All good little girls want to go to heaven. Why don't you?" "Yes, ma'am, we ain't girls," we're going back to Detroit,"—Harper's Magazine.
